Proj. 8845

There is a sense of a colorful, pleasant climate with lots of structures on an ascending terrain feature on the verge of a large body of water whose interface with the land describes a curving arc and suggests a pleasant sandy beach. Deep green vegetation, square structures with flat roofs, and a hill/mountain that has both natural and manmade aspects about it. The atmosphere has a spring-like feel/sense to it. Picturesque would describe this place. People here are tanned or dark complected, and seem generally happy or light hearted. AOL/S impression of looking out of the cabin of a light aircraft at a structure more or less similar in shape to a pyramid that the aircraft is circling. Structure seems to be in an area of other structures, but is surrounded by warm-climate trees and vegetation. The structure's "roof" is very geometric and symmetrical, but is not as steep as a classic pyramid shape.

A person in a dark business suit is perceived carrying something, apparently folders with papers under his arm, stepping down a short series of cement steps with a wrought iron railing in a garden-like setting with strings of small lights, tables, and people quietly engaging in other activities taking no notice of him. Person is preoccupied, insecure, and uncomfortable about the future of something he is connected with. These materials he gives to a second party who is supposed to do something with them. First person is now relieved to be without the materials, but still experiences a chronic case of low-level anxiety.
